

18:41:37 From Sandy w/ Levees.org : In 2006, the Biz Community actively discouraged wonderful projects like this.

18:42:30 From Heidi Schmalbach : Sandy, do you mean calling attention to our vulnerability?

18:42:41 From rachel david : i bet they did. capitalist ventures actively discourage anyone talking about the unsustainable way we live. its really apparent during this pandemic thank you for noting this

18:44:55 From @Brendonart to Natalie Manning(Privately) : Hi Natalie, you're not muted ;-)

18:47:31 From Natalie Manning to @Brendonart(Privately) : Yikes - thanks!

18:48:39 From courtney egan : homeowners were very adverse to acknowledging it as well here

18:49:21 From @Brendonart to Natalie Manning(Privately) : No worries! It was a tiny bit of noise but id want to know too

18:50:40 From Sandy w/ Levees.org : The Biz Comm didn't state its objection. It just fought all attempts.

18:52:00 From Hannah Chalew : delta flora

18:54:16 From Michel Varisco : Yes, Lees at Delta Flora!

Thanks

18:55:10 From Aron Chang : I'm appreciating the ways in which all of the projects shown today are -- at least in part -- about connecting people to the places they inhabit in very specific ways. How a single dimension or a shifting line can contain so much meaning and inspire conversation, for example.

18:55:34 From Sandy w/ Levees.org : You're welcome!

18:56:46 From Natalie Manning to Harry Lowenburg(Privately) : Hi Harry!
